1. Sketchbook or loose sketch paper, 11"x14" or larger
2. Drawing pencils, various ( at least one 3B or darker and one 2H or 3H)
3. Kneaded eraser
4. Pencil sharpener
5. For first time students (optional for returning students):
  1. Canson Mi-Teintes colored paper in a mid-toned gray or tan
  2. Prismacolor pencils- one black, one white
6. Board for supporting paper
7. Masking tape
8. Tracing paper
9. Watercolor paper; one 22" x 30" sheet of cold pressed and one 22" x 30" sheet of hot pressed
  1. Note: Good quality watercolor paper in single sheets or blocks is fine, but watercolor tablets are rarely satisfactory; they have much too much sizing (starch) on their surfaces.
10. Watercolor brushes; at least two...one size 2 or 3 and one size 6 or larger
11. Two containers for water
12. Palette
13. One or two rags
14. Water colors in tubes or pans
  - 1.
15. A suggested palette of tube colors: You may certainly work with the paints you now have.
  1. Nickel Titanate Yellow (PY 53) (Daniel Smith)
  2. Hansa Yellow Medium (PY 97) (Daniel Smith)
  3. Hansa Yellow Deep (PY 65) (Daniel Smith)
  4. Scarlet Lake (PR 188) (Winsor & Newton)
  5. Quinacridone Pink (PV 42) (Daniel Smith)
  6. Quinacridone Violet (PV 19) (M. Graham)
  7. Dioxazine Purple (PV 37) (M. Graham)
  8. French Ultramarine (PB 29) (Daniel Smith)
  9. Marine Blue (PB 16) (Holbein)
16. Note: The letters and numbers in parenthesis are pigment numbers. They appear on paint tubes and ensure that you are buying that pigment, even if the manufacturer uses a different name for the color. The manufacturers names shown are the ones that I prefer but the paints are available from several manufacturers. All are available in brick and mortar art supply stores as well as on line.
